German's Seeds Germinate

GERMAN'S SEEDS are obtained from the best sources available and are for the most part originator's stock. The remainder are obtained from leading American and European growers.

We solicit business from the critical florist grower. In this catalog we have tried to do all possible to list the most profitable and leading strains available today.

We sell only seeds of good vitality, which will grow under normal conditions. All seeds are tested in our own laboratory before shipping.

H. G. German, Seeds, warrants to the extent of the purchase price that seeds or bulbs sold are as described on the container, within recognized tolerances. Seller gives no other or further warranty, express or implied.

We invite inquiries from large growers. Write us about your requirements on any seeds listed in this catalog, and we will answer promptly.

Specialists in Florists' Flower Seeds

Here is the Secret . . .

As every successful businessman knows, prices should be considered carefully. There are many items of expense between your cost and the selling price. If you offer high-quality plants—name plants that are written up in garden magazines and garden pages of newspapers that people know are good—you will find that they are willing to pay for them. So figure your prices to allow a fair margin of profit. People have learned that individually potted plants will grow and outproduce plants that are pulled apart; therefore they are willing to pay the higher price, particularly for the well-known and highly advertised All-America Winners and other outstanding new introductions.

Today, the leading bedding plant growers understand that this is a rapidly changing world, and much of that change is style. Most of them are exploiting that knowledge by using these methods of merchandising:

1. Making the better and new varieties available to their customers, and advertising them.
2. Setting up a self-service display of items available in modern plant containers with prices prominently displayed, thus speeding customer service and selling more plants with less help in the short spring sales period. They sell plants that will perform better for the customer than the old-fashioned dug and newspaper-wrapped plants.
3. Presenting the new changes in STYLE. Without style change (represented by new models and ideas each year) no business or industry can continue to prosper today. Now as never before, with the great mass of people, style change adds spice and sparkle to life and satisfies a basic human need. The better and newer varieties that are presented each year should be grown along with the older tried and proved strains.

It is with the above facts in mind that we constantly strive to add the best of the new varieties or STYLE changes and the latest developments in plant containers.

Pay particular attention to the All-America Selections for 1962. All are outstanding and deserve your full consideration, for they have been thoroughly tested in trial gardens all over the United States and Canada and will be highly publicized in the coming months.

"SNAPS" for Greenhouse Forcing Expected Blooming Periods

See our 1960 pamphlet on Snapdragon Culture. Additional copies available upon request.

Many new varieties are rapidly becoming available, which offer a much wider selection of color, season of bloom, habit and shatter resistance than previously. This makes varietal selection more confusing.

We have divided our varieties into four basic groups, depending on optimum flowering periods, as follows:

- 1 Winter Flowering—Dec. 15 to Apr. 1.
- 2 Late Winter and Early Spring Flowering—Apr. 1 to May 15.
Late Fall and Early Winter Flowering—Nov. 1 to Dec. 15.
- 3 Spring Flowering—May 15 to July 1.
Fall Flowering—Sept. 15 to Nov. 1.
- 4 Summer Flowering—July 1 to Sept. 15.

PLEASE NOTE: Some overlapping of dates can occur; also seasons vary considerably.

60° Night Temperature Varieties

A few varieties can be grown in the same house with Chrysanthemums. The light they receive from the Mums seems to aid them.

We can recommend Virginia (paper-white), Kentucky (light pink), Colorado (yellow) and Tennessee (red) and the Potomac varieties, although the latter flower several weeks later. If further information is desired, write for our schedule.

Many growers need both Mums and Snaps. Heretofore, without separate houses, they have been unable to raise them. Using the new Yoder series of early spring and late flowering response group and the varieties such as Virginia, Kentucky, Colorado and Tennessee, good results have been obtained, as outlined below.

The same lights used on Mums were allowed to hit the Snaps. The lights seemed to improve and accelerate the flowering. Bill Duffett reports that quality was good and frequently better than the winter varieties in other houses at 50°. No wilt was observed. The warmer soil and more rapid drying out appeared to correct this problem. Very little or no grass was produced. Stems were solid, firm—keeping quality and color were outstanding. The most impressive point was that the crop duration was the same as required for single-stem Chrysanthemums. Yoder's schedule was as follows:

SOW	BENCH	START FLOWERING	FLOWERING COMPLETED
Sept. 7	Sept. 28	Jan. 18	Feb. 18
Sept. 14	Oct. 12	Feb. 8	Feb. 22
Sept. 28	Oct. 26	March 7	March 28

We will report new information on this cultural method as soon as tests are completed this winter.

OUTDOOR SNAPDRAGONS

218,000 S; 65° to 70° F.; 1 to 2 weeks; Feb. 10

New Rocket Series

All-America Award Winners for 1960

The most spectacular award-winning flowers in a long time. The Rocket Series are the first F₁ hybrids purposely bred for garden use and hot-weather tolerance. The long heavy spikes on very heavy stems, with close-spaced florets, make this series outstanding performers everywhere. We predict these new Snaps will rapidly replace all other garden types in the same manner that the F₁ Hybrid Petunias have replaced the old open-pollinated class. Sow early February. Transplant and pinch when 2½ in. tall; set out in garden early. Trials of these varieties placed in the hands of Florida growers in 1957 and 1958 have shown how well this strain produces under their conditions. We highly recommend the Rockets and Futurama strain for this culture.

Bronze Rocket. Autumn-gold suffused pink.

Golden Rocket. Beautiful deep golden yellow.

Orchid Rocket. Lovely orchid-pink.

Pink Rocket. Lovely pink. Fine spikes.

Red Rocket. Finest of series; highest scorer in All-America trials. Beautiful scarlet-crimson with dark reddish green foliage and stems.

Rose Rocket. Refreshing medium rose with touch of yellow on lip.

White Rocket. Long, graceful, creamy white spikes. Greatly improved strain with heavier stems and larger, closely set spikes.

Mixed Rocket. Formula mixture of all the above varieties.

ASTERS

14,850 S; 65° to 75° F.; 1 to 2 weeks; for spring sales sow 6 weeks before selling date

FORCING ASTERS: Asters form flower buds when axis elongation occurs. This does not occur under daylight periods less than 15 hours, unless the temperature is above 70°. Short days prevent axis elongation, but speed up bud development. The resulting flower is smaller and on a shorter stem.

ADDITIONAL LIGHTING SCHEDULE: 40-watt bulbs, 6 ft. apart and 2 ft. above the plant tops, give sufficient light for this crop. Give 3 hours additional lighting during the months of August, September, October and March. Give 4 hours additional lighting during November and February, and 5 hours additional lighting during December and January. We recommend lights set to come on at 10:00 P.M. Start lights on seed flats as soon as leaves appear and continue lights until first flowers show color.

Pot seedlings as soon as large enough. We highly recommend Jiffy-Pots for this. Space 8 x 8 in. in the bench. Don't pinch. The new Duchesse varieties should be spaced 7 x 8 in. or 7 x 7 in.

We cannot recommend forcing cut-flower types from November to mid-March.

Culture for Forcing Asters

For cut-flower use either in the greenhouse or outside, the new Pink Lady, Early Beauty, Duchesse and Ball or Giant Incurved are best.

To produce large bloom size, it is necessary to remove the lower branches and thus limit the number of flowers per plant to five or six. Lateral stems will produce better quality if disbudded to one flower per stem.

The Cregos are the ever-popular shaggy types. Early Giants are the same type bloom but earlier, while the Super Giants have the largest blooms with long stiff stems and bloom about 10 days later than the Cregos.

ASTERS, continued

We offer only Bodger's Wilt-resistant Strains, which have proved very satisfactory to the trade.

Dwarf Queen. Early flowering; 10 in. high. Wilt-resistant, dwarf base-branching plants with large double flowers freely produced. Will make ideal pot plants. We suggest placing three plants in a 5 or 6-in. pot or single plants in a 3½ or 4-in. pot. Do not mix colors in a pot, for each color blooms at a different time. To bloom in pots follow lighting schedule given in first column.

Sown Aug. 1, will bloom Dec. 13

Aug. 20, will bloom Jan. 10

Sept. 10, will bloom Feb. 10

Oct. 1, will bloom Mar. 20

Oct. 19, will bloom Apr. 18

For sowing at times other than above dates, follow above schedule for forcing cut-flower Asters. Prick off to 2¼-in. pots about three to four weeks after sowing. The final shift to blooming-size pots is made about six weeks after transplanting.

DISEASE IN ZINNIAS (Alternaria)

From reports we are receiving and our own personal observations of this disease in so many sections this year, we feel that our growers should be made aware of it before planting season. This disease does not seem to affect the Lilliputs, Cupid, Persian Carpet, Elegans Pumila (Cut-And-Come-Again), Poly-Pink, State Fair or the Giant Cactus-Flowered types; therefore we recommend that growers consider switching to those strains wherever possible.

F₁ HYBRID POLYFLOR. The first F₁ Hybrid Zinnia ever offered. Plants are compact and continuously covered with a mass of medium-sized, semi-cactus type blooms. Early flowering. Growers will be surprised with the vigorous seedlings produced.

JACK POT

JACK POTS

Jack Pots are manufactured from the finest horticultural peat moss available. Sturdy shaped pots make handling easy, and pots will last the required growing period, under greenhouse or coldframe conditions. These pots are made both round and square; the square pots are in two weights, the No. 10 the lighter. Jack Pot sizes are inside top diameters "full dimensional." They will hold more soil than other peat pots of the same stated sizes.

New line based on manufacturer's 20 years of experience. All the most desirable features are incorporated in this new line. All pots made of pure virgin impact polystyrene.

Full-size specifications in depth and diameter. The top diameter will be equal to the depth of the pot. For maximum stability the bottom diameter will be as great as possible.

BEMIS TEKPAKS

PLANT-PAKS New, Improved Rigid Formulation—Increased Drainage

These "Paks" save the time consumed in digging and wrapping plants and help you place a far better plant in your customers' hands. Now greatly improved with a more rigid formulation for the entire line, which will give it much longer life on the grower's benches. The number of drainage holes has been increased to insure more positive drainage. The cost saving of shallow containers is a myth. Growers are rapidly finding that cost differentials are overcome by increased costs of labor and materials (watering and fertilizing). The swing is definitely to 3-in.-depth containers.

Featherweight. Lighter to handle, thus reducing shipping costs. "Paks" nest together and reduce storage space to a minimum.

Eye-Appealing. They are neat and attractive when used in any display.

Strong and Durable. Made of molded cellulose, they are resilient; no cracking or breaking. Contain no materials toxic to plants. Will keep their shape and not rot for six months.

JIFFY-POTS

The remarkable molded-type pot made in Norway or Denmark, composed of 75% peat and 25% wood fiber to which soluble fertilizers have been added. Roots grow easily through the walls, permitting repotting in larger pots and planting in the bench or garden without removing the pot—a decided saving in time and labor. Jiffy-Pots are inexpensive, lightweight, long lasting, need less watering and allow excellent root aeration.

The most important single advantage of Jiffy-Pots is the fast premium growth which they support. Growers report up to 50% faster and heavier growth in Jiffy-Pots.

BLACK MAGIC PAPER MULCH RIVALS PLASTIC

For outdoor garden use, ideal for Geranium stock beds, Carnations, Glads and all other flower and vegetable crops. Tried extensively these past seasons in our own trial gardens, this new mulch paper eliminated cultivation and just a small amount of hand weeding was necessary. The paper we are now offering has been greatly improved.

Mulch paper contains a fungicide, Cunilate, which prevents deterioration. It contains no materials toxic to plants. To guard against light transmission and the weed growth that goes with it, the paper is dyed with carbon black.

The rolls are 40 in. wide and will contain 2250 linear feet of paper or 7500 sq. ft. Each roll would weigh 100 lbs. Based on the recommendation of two-thirds coverage of the area, it would require 4 rolls to properly mulch 1 acre. Sample sent on request.

Paper mulch will give the following benefits:

- Controls weeds, eliminates much cultivation and hand hoeing.
- Regulates the moisture supply in the soil under the plants.
- Reduces loss from disease.
- Regulates the soil temperature.
- Keeps soil in good physical condition by preventing the deterioration normally caused by hard rains and by movement of cultivating equipment.
- Prevents leaching of nutrients from soil.

Sold in full rolls of 100 lbs. each only. Price per roll, F.O.B. Smethport, Penna., or Wisconsin: 1 roll $31.00 per roll; 4 rolls (will cover 1 acre) @$29.75 per roll; 5 to 25 rolls @$29.00 per roll; 25 to 50 rolls @$27.00 per roll. Shipped collect.
